

Jurisdiction Web Map Help

The Jurisdiction Web Map allows you to validate street and address information provided by the City of Austin Addressing System. You can either search for an Address starting with a house number, or just a Street Name.

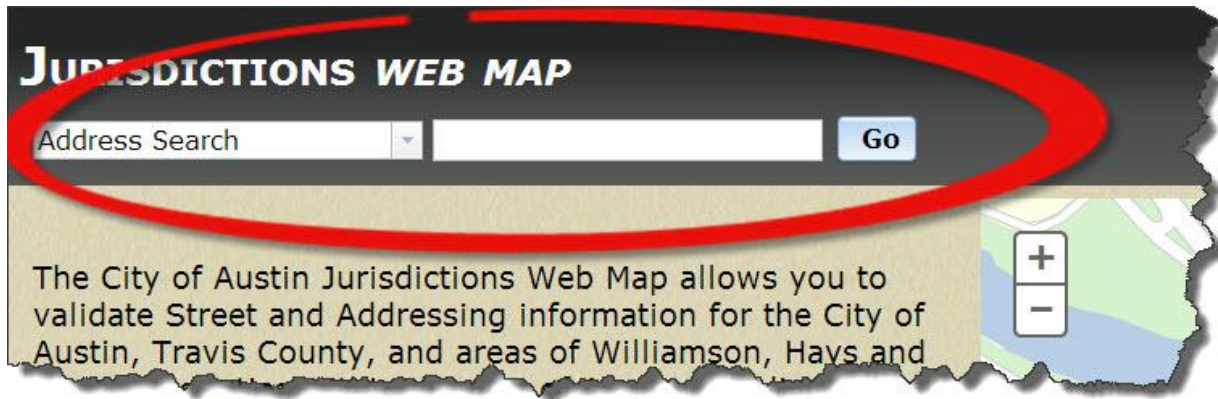

Screen Layout

The Jurisdiction Web Map has four main sections: the header section, the data panel, the map and a footer section.

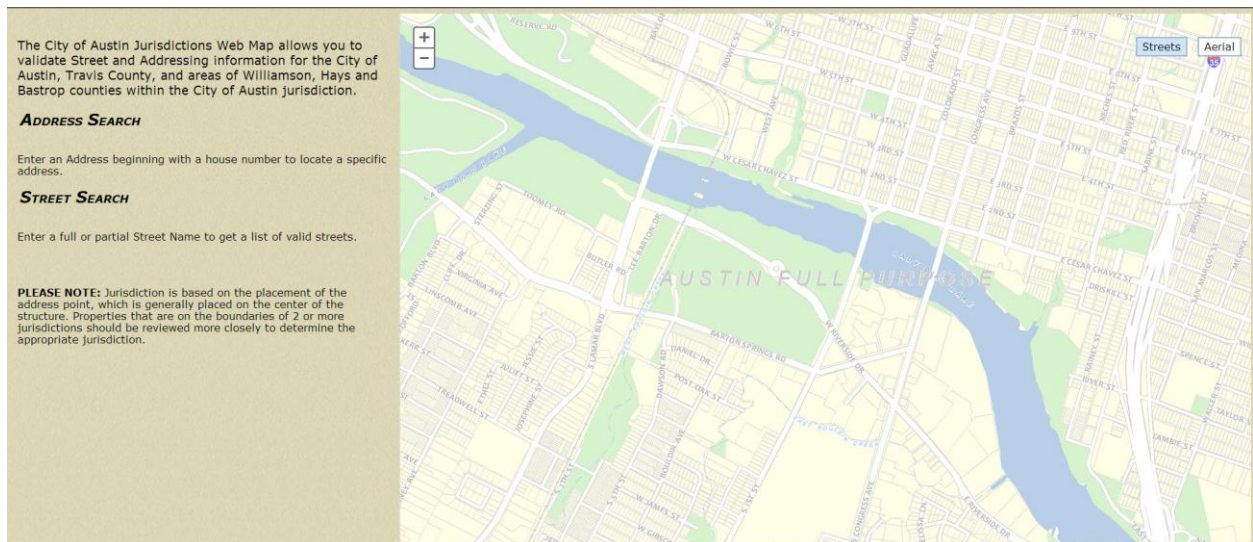

The header section contains a menu bar the very top of the screen. These are links to other City of Austin websites that may be of interest.

It also contains the Search tool.

The center section contains the Data Panel on the left and the Map Panel on the right.

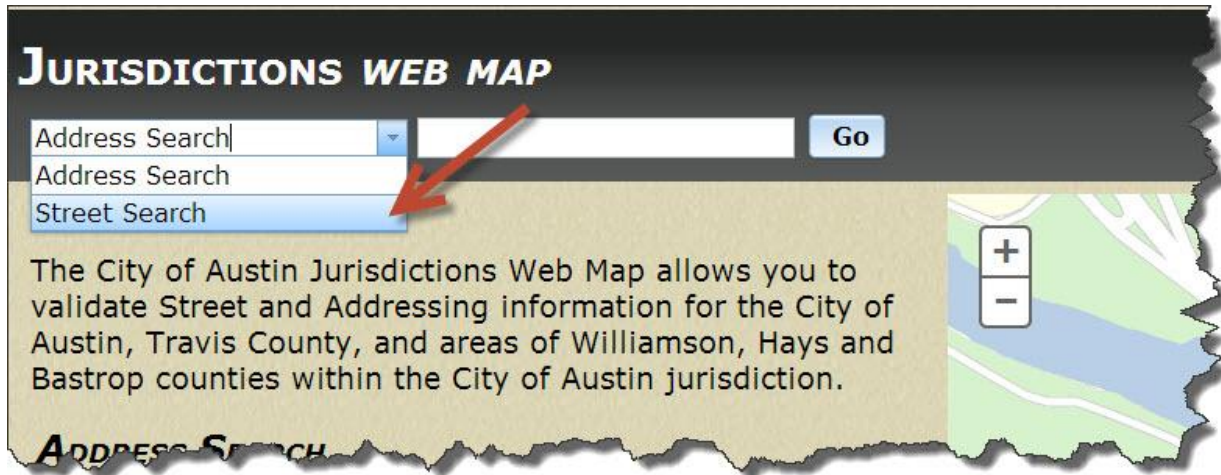

The footer section contains a link to this Help document, a link to the standard Legal Disclaimer page for all City of Austin web maps, and a link to send an email to the Service Desk if issues arise that are not covered in the Help document.

Searching for Addresses and Streets

First select which type of search you would like to perform. If you want to search for a specific Address starting with a House Number, then just enter your search term in the empty field next to the box that says Address Search. If you want to search for just a Street Name, click the drop down arrow next to Address Search and select Street Search from the drop down list.

Once you have selected a Search Type, enter your Search Term and click the Go button (or hit Enter on your keyboard) to start your search.

NOTE:

If you are searching for a specific Address, enter the House Number and Street Name.

If you are searching for a Street Name, then enter the full or partial Street Name without a House Number.

If you searched for a specific Address, the information about the Address appears in the data panel on the left side of the screen.

Data Panel Details

The data panel on the left side of the screen has three sections: Best Match, Possible Address Matches and Address Details.

When searching for a specific Address, the tool uses a locator to find the best possible match for the search term you entered. Sometimes the search finds exactly what you were looking for, but even if it doesn't, it will return the Best Match it can in the top section of the data panel and zoom the map to the location of that Address.

NOTE:

Be careful to note the information about the Best Match returned. There may be important differences between the Address you were searching for and the Best Match, such as the Jurisdiction or even County where the Best Match is located.
